

Bill, Fred A.
(Steamboat Capt.)

October 31, 1902

Fred A. Bill to J. J. Hill.

"In 1872 I was clerk on the Steamer Dakota in the 'Kittson Line' on Red River of the North. Jerry Webber was Master of same."

Reminisces about early steamboating days on the Red River, describes the appearance of Crookston, Minn. and gives names of men connected with the steamboats "International," "Selkirk," and "Dakota."

General correspondence by date