

1886, July 27

Kennedy to Hill.

Carnegie's price for steel rails too high, Pres. Cleveland's veto of Railway Bill [for allowing construction across Ind. Reservation?] in northern Montana was made under a misapprehension,