

Duluth, Minnesota

February 12, 1887

Hill to Chas. T. Hinde, Louisville, Kentucky

"As to the future of Duluth, I think it is bound to be the largest wheat shipping point on the Lakes - in fact, it is so now - and must continue to grow larger. While I do not so much fear the Interstate Commission Act as a great many and do not believe it will force all the business by the Lakes, I think Duluth must necessarily be a point of great importance."

JJH LetterBook, 11/26/86 - 6/6/87, p. 284