

Hill, J.J. - Early life

February 12, 1915

John W. Glassford, Long Beach, Calif. to Hill

Recalling old days when he served St. Paul and Pacific Road in 1867 and later as telegraph operator in Supt. E. R. Delano's little office upstairs in a frame building on the levee, where he made the acquaintance of Hill sending telegrams for cars of wood for Hill, Griggs & Co. Is now 74. Wife's father, James Costello, was the first to lay rails from St. Paul west.
