

Japanese in U.S.

December 7, 1906

M. A. Matthews to James J. Hill.

Deplores treatment of Japanese in San Francisco.

States that Seattle's public schools are open to Japanese children, but there are thousands of Japanese men over school age who ought to receive an education. Asks Hill's help in establishing a school in Seattle for this purpose.

General correspondence by date