

Montana Cattle Company      May 11, 1886

Hill to Wm. C. Van Horne

Introducing R. B. Harrison of Helena, "the principal owner and active man in the Montana Cattle Company of Northern Montana. They own one of the largest herds - if not the largest - in that country and desire to increase still more. If he could find a good location on the Canadian side of the boundary he would make a lease and stock it with steers. This would give you the carrying of about all his shipping steers,, as he would use the Montana ranges for breeding
