

Neill, E. D.

November 7, 1899

John Sinclair to James J. Hill.

From printed brochure enclosed in this letter: "In April, 1849, E.D.Neill of Elizabeth, Illinois, by appointment of the American Home Missionary Society, visited St. Paul, and in May, of the same year, commenced the building of a place of worship near Rice Park, which, with the exception of a Presbyterian organization at Fort Snelling, was the first Protestant church of any kind in the Northwest."

General correspondence by date.
