September 24, 1906

J. H. Probst to J. J. Toomey.

Has visited the U.S. Land Office and learned from the "officers of the local land office that the Commission which examined the N.P. lands years ago as to their being mineral or non-mineral left out Washington State entirely," and feels that "this may have some bearing on the case."

Has discussed the case with Roy Clark, who has been recommended as a reliable surveyor. Clark is to make a written bid to Higgins. States that the application for patent can only be made by a resident of the District in which these claims are located, so a power of attorney could be given to any Gt. Nor. official residing in Washington [State] or to any resident that Mr. Hill might select.
