

Schiff, Jacob

September 25, 1899

Jacob Schiff to J. J. Hill.

Believes a satisfactory arrangement can be effected between the Oregon Navigation and Great Northern Companies.

States that the "difficult element, as we all know, will be the Northern Pacific, with its aggressive and often intolerant attitude."

The management of the Baltimore & Ohio Road is giving some concern even though "with every desire...on the part of Mr. Salomen, to do justly the affairs en trusted to him, I doubt whether he has had sufficient experience in actual railroad management to be equal to the important and serious questions upon which he has, more or less, to decide."
