

Stephen, George

August 23, 1897

Stephen to Hill

Portraits have arrived and "are a wonderful reproduction," especially of his late wife. She hated the Canadian Pacific Road; "She did not live to hear that I have ceased to have any interest in it." Smith "has, apparently, been unable to make up his mind what title to call himself. What a strange creature he is, so Indian like in his love of mystery and secretiveness."

General Correspondence by Date

