

U.S.-Political Campaigns      September 6, 1910

J.H.Carroll to James J. Hill.

"Mr. James T. Lloyd, Chairman of the Congressional Campaign Committee spent last Saturday with me, and he is very hopeful about the Democratic Congress. Indeed it seems that the way the Republicans are quarreling with each other, that the Democrats ought to have very little trouble in electing the next Congress.'

General correspondence by date

