

England - Opinion of U.S.A. industrial power

LWH, Jr. in England, analyzes English opinion re American superior industrial progress, with mention of Austin & Lloyd's work just appearing as a book after these 2 young engineers' visit to U.S. last fall and publication of their report in newspapers in England; also the English interest in "a book about the Ford works...." as the most typical and pregnant thing that has been written on American big business. Also tells how to use a punt.
