

Glacier National Park

Harry Taylor, brother of Mrs. L. W. Hill was an early explorer in the area that became about 1900 the "Proposed Glacier National Park" and later the actual park. His letters to his sister recall these experiences in a few instances. Most of these are to be found in her file of papers, Stack VII

Glacier National Park

See also

Blackfeet Indian Reservation

Oil Maps

Glacier National Park

Vernon Baileys Map of Life Zones. 1916

See

Oil Maps - Glacier National Park

Glacier National Park

In large package are maps showing golf course
June, 1927 & 1928; plans for remodelling cottage no. 1, June 29, 1927; and proposed touriscottage. May 8, 1929.

See

Oil Maps - Oil - Maps

Glacier National Park

Robert D. Heintz's "The Man Who is Building a National Park," ca. 1911

See card for

L. W. Hill- Papers - card 5 (over) Scrapbooks

Glacier National Park

Hill's address on his 75th birthday to Great Northern's Veterans Association

Mary T. Hill's diary, Sept. 13, 1913

Glacier National Park

See

----- Kihn, artist (Indian Portraits)