Potsdam Edict Accepted, Says Tokyo Radio

WASHINGTO-(UP)—The Japanese Delegation agency said early today that the Japanese government has accepted the Allied surrender terms for the note dispatched to Tokyo by the United States.

The broadcast was recorded by the FCC.

It is learned that an imperial message accepting the Potsdam proclamation is forthcoming soon.

The English language wireless dispatch said, as directed to the American zone.

The Dornit dispatch was transmitted at 9:30 a.m.

Earlier the Tokyo radio had said that an imperial message accepting the Potsdam declaration was forthcoming soon.

The dispatch was recorded by United Press in San Francisco.

The text was repeated twice after the first sudden announcement.

The earlier announcement, strangely suggesting that the Allies had received a ‘suspension’ of the United States, was followed by a second announcement.

As of midnight Monday—9:40 p.m. after the terms were transmitted to the White House—the Japanese still had not received an answer.

This and other Allied capitals want to wait and see what can be done by the Allies, and perhaps the United States, before deciding how to proceed.
